Choir Presentation Of 'Theresa Mass' Next Wednesday

The Fargo-Moorhead Symphony Orchestra will accompany the MSTC choir Wednesday, May 28 at 8:00 p.m. when they present Haydn's Theresa Mass in Weld Hall auditorium.

Soloists are Lois Leervig, Carolyn Levenson, Van Smith, and Willard Snustad, with Mary Rumreich at the piano.

The concert is under the direction of Dr. H. D. Harmon, head of the music department.

The Theresa Mass is rated among the highest of the entire liturgical literature. It was the fourth of six High Masses written by Haydn at the peak of his creative power — between 1796 and 1802, and came between the two great oratorios "The Creation" and "The Seasons," both of which the choir has performed — "The Creation" in the fall of last year, and "The Seasons" this past fall. It is not known for what occasion this Mass was written. Composed at Vienna, it was most likely intended for the nameday of Princess Marie Hermenegil Esterhazy, nee Princess Liechtenstein, which was solemnly celebrated at Eisenstadt.

The name by which it is generally known today presumably alludes to Marie Therese, second wife of Emperor Francis I, and accomplished singer and a great admirer of Haydn's.

Haydn himself never had the work published. The great favor with which the Mass has met is due to its loftiness and poular vein, but also to the fact that, in spite of its grandeur, it is simply scored.

The Mass is divided into six parts — Kyrie, Glorie in Excelsis Deo, Credo in Unum Deum, Sanctus, Benedictus, and Agnus Dei, all of which are sung in Latin.

Otto Ursin, Nels Johnson Will Work On PhD Degree

Nels N. Johnson, art instructor, and Otto Ursin, co-chairman of the department of industrial arts, were granted leaves of absence for graduate work on their doctorate degrees.

Mr. Johnson, who came to MS 13 years ago, will attend Pennsylvania State college for his doctoral study.

He will be working with Viktor Lowenfeld who wrote the text which the art department is using in their methods of elementary art course.

Mr. Ursin joined the MS faculty in 1946; he will study at Columbia University and at the University Missouri.

Donald Gourts, '51 graduate and who is now completing requirements for the master of arts degree at the University of Minnesota, was appointed to fill Mr. Ursin's position for the coming year.

Mr. Johnson's work will be shifted to other members of the faculty.

Sociology Professor Visits MS Campus

Dr. George E. Outland, professor of Sociology at San Francisco State college, visited the MS campus last Wednesday.

Dr. Outland conferred with Dr. O. W. Snarr, president of the college, concerning our program of general education in Social Studies.

In his study, Dr. Outland has been visiting a number of different colleges throughout the area.

MS Student Corporation Nominates Candidates

The election of officers and advisors for next years Student Corporation will be held at a meeting of the student body sometime next week.

All students are members of the corporation and are required to pay a twenty-five cent fee each quarter as membership dues. Because the corporation is a student owned enterprise, we are able to buy books and school supplies at a considerable saving through a non-profit procedure.

The incumbent corporation representatives have chosen a slate of six students and four faculty members. The student body will elect three students and two faculty members from this slate.

Jere Cooper, Ralph Crews, Norman Pryzbilla, Edward Raymond, Kenneth Shegstad and Carolyn Stahl are the student candidates.

Mr. Lee, Miss Smith, Dr. Cater and Mr. Boudrye are the faculty candidates.

Royce Sanner Named 'MiSTiC' Business Manager

The publication board, at a meting last Wednesday, named Royce Sanner business manager of the MISTiC for the coming year.

Sanner, a junior, will be replacing Joanne Hanson who has served in that capacity since January, 1951.

The office still to be filled by the board of publications is that of business manager for the 1953 Dragon.

It was decided that this office would be filled in the fall of 1952.

A lunch and a social hour have been planned.

CAPS AND GOWNS

All four-year graduates and the grey-gown ushers are to pick up their caps and gowns from Mrs. Solien at the bookstore on Monday and Tuesday. It is necessary that all the people concerned take care of this matter during those two days.

'Dragon' And 'Literary Designs' Make Debut

The Dragon, the school year book, and Literary Designs, annual publication of Sigma Tau Delta, national literary fraternity, will soon make their previews on campus.

June 2 or 3 will be the day when the yearbooks will be distributed in the publication office.

A shortage of funds makes the date for the Literary Designs debut tentative. Editor Chuck Jenkinson says that it should be done some time next week.

This year's Designs features something new - a two page drawing by Bob Berg who's work you have been seeing in the "Profiles" department of the MISTiC.

Last MiSTiC

This is the last publication of the MISTiC for the year.

The MISTiC will not go to press after this due to Memorial Day vacation which starts at 4 p.m. Thursday, May 29, and test week, June 2-6.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

By The Public Eye

Due to tests, spring weather, a scarcity of money and reporting reporters this is the last MiSTiC for this school year. As a bonus you get an extra page.

The Dragon relays are long gone but favorable reports are still trickling in. Several schools have complimented the handling of the meet and those that can remember, say it was better than any of the previous six.

That statement isn't from the spectators side only — nine track records were broken which speaks for the caliber of the enteries.

Useless mis-information: Six shots of rye will cure a cold, if you can get a cold.

You probably noticed that "Dolly" has had company the past week. The guest was a Mrs. Askegard who is a former MS Dean of Women and music department head. She came up from Cleveland, Ohio to visit the place and seemed pleased with the improvements particularly "the art center and new dormitory."

"In the spring a young woman's fancy turns to thoughts of living off campus so dorm hours won't interfere with parties."

I feel very flattered this week.

One Man's Opinion

By BOB CARPENTER

A college education is supposed to teach one to locate information. After you locate the information, you put it to use.

Well, in the yellow pages of the telephone book, I found some remarkable data about the two cities of Fargo-Moorhead. I'll let you try put it to use.

First under A. The altitude of Fargo is 905 feet above sea level.

The average mean temperature of Fargo is a cool, but invigorating 39.2 degrees fahrenheit. While the average rainfall is 23.2 inches. Moorhead on the other hand has an average mean temperature of 37.4 degrees fahrenheit. This is cooler by 1.8 degrees than Fargo. Remarkable isn't it.

Moorhead makes no comment about the amount of rainfall, perhaps they agree with Fargo on this.

But what I found to be so interesting was that the only difference in the two cities is that each is in a different state and that they are separated from one another by a rather narrow, muddy, and shallow river.

I always thought, begin from Minnesota, that North Dakota was the cold and weather bound state in this region.

Fargo by the way was named for a William G. Fargo, he was a member of a freight concern in the earlier years of this country. While Moorhead was named for a William G. Moorhead — nothing more was offered.

Now that we realize what a remarkable difference an arbitrary state boundary can make, as I said a narrow, muddy river, lets turn to the local situation.

Mr. T. E. Smith, Smitty to the boys, is moving to his new house south of the college. We upperclassmen who have worked with Smitty for the last couple of years realize what an understanding and helpful person he has been in his capacity as dormitory director.

Fritz Bierhaus is replacing Smitty on the job. Fritz, I am sure, will also do very well at the job.

After all, the most important job of head residence in a dormitory, is to set an example by which the men might pattern their own living.

And who would know the true

While browsing through a pile of other college papers, I ran across a column entitled "Through the Keyhole."

To satisfy my vanity I checked the preceding issues and found that they had just begun using the name. I claim longevity.....

Remark of the week! "I felt so bad this morning I looked through the obituary column to see if my name was there." (someone else said it, don't blame me).

merits of good living better than men directly interested in Health and Physical Education.

Good luck Fritz, and may your only problem be to find places for the large number of residents in Ballard next fall.

Old Harv (Stewart) is forever trying to win the battle against the water in Ballard Basement. Everytime he gets it swept or mopped out, it comes back in again. It must seep in through the cracks in the cement floor.

The farmers in the area don't feel the ground is wet enough to cause that kind of seepage. Could it be that a cracked pipe is the cause of all the mess?

Perhaps we could induce some radio-active material into the water and trace it with a geiger counter.

I understand the ironer is back. This time when the pants start to burn and you don't remember how to open it, just unplug it.

Then while the gizmo is cooling, maybe somebody will come along and give the assistance needed.

Of course, if you were smart you might have availed yourself of the demonstrations of its use. These are over now, but I'm sure anyone who did see these demonstrations will show you how its done.

Then while we're still in the basement lets take a look at the clothes line. Some guys come down, wash and hang their clothes, and leave them for, well it must be weeks, while some guys have to carry the wet-wash up to their rooms and let it dry.

We should try make it a point to pick up our clothes as soon as they dry and give somebody else a chance.

By the color of some of the eyes around campus I'd say the Gamma Nu dinner-dance was a success. A huge success!

The Owls will hold their annual third degree ceremony this weekend. I've been waiting for this for two years. Lets make it good!

The PDK's showed up in new sweat shirts, or should I, for the sake of their fine name, call them perspiration shirts.

We'll, I'll see you at homecoming next year. Save me a sack in the dorm. and order me a plate at the luncheon.

Cheating--How Far Does It Go- What Does It Mean?

In recent weeks the Associated Collegiate press took a number of national polls of student opinion on various questions. Two of the poll questions were: Cheating: How far does it go? and the Honor System: An Idea.

In the first poll, the opinion of the majority of college students indicated that very few students cheat on their examinations.

A student at Regis college, Mass., had a similar opinion; this is her explanation, "There's hardly any cheating here," she says. "We're proctored and wouldn't have the chance to cheat if we wanted to."

The second poll showed that most American college students approve of the idea of an honor system for their school, although students at the larger universities tend to think such a system impractical.

The more cynical side is expressed by a coed at Hope college, Michigan. "It wouldn't work here," she says, "— due to the former education of the students and their general inability to think for themselves."

The whole problem of cheating arises from a misconception; the individual is placing more value on the symbol than on the thing it stands for. He is confusing the symbol with the knowledge that the symbol represents.

For example the student who cheats on an exam just to pull an "A" or to raise his honor point average to be eligible for membership in the education fraternity is guilty of this — placing more value on the symbol than on the knowledge it represents.

We all confuse symbols and the object symbolized, to some extent, and it is becoming increasingly difficult to distinguish between verbal symbols and reality.

The rise of our modern communication media has emphasized this even more, but that is the price we must pay for our freedom of expression.

As students and even more important as future teachers, we must not only pick the right values, we must learn to teach them!

'What Goes On?

By DUANE SCRIBNER

The most immediate thing on the schedule this week is happening over at the AC's Little Country theater. I mentioned their production of "Romeo and Juliet" last week, but now I'd like to urge all of you to see it.

It isn't very often that one gets to see Shakespeare on the stage in these parts, and if the production at the LCT is at all well done, it certainly will be worth seeing. The play is probably not Shakespeare's greatest, but it is one that will appeal to the audience.

If you need a refresher on the story of it, it's about a boy and girl from two feuding families. They fall in love, and are of course forbidden to see each other.

The situation eventually becomes so bad that Juliet decides to take a potion which will give the appearance of death, so that she can avoid marriage to another man, whom she does not love.

It is supposed that Romeo will be warned by a priest what to expect; the two will be married and will run away. However, things don't go well. Romeo thinks Juliet really dead, and kills himself.

When Juliet awakes, Romeo is dead. She tries to poison herself by kissing his poisoned lips, a watch approaches, she takes Romeo's dagger and kills herself. The only good it all does is to patch up the quarrel between the two families.

It's really quite a captivating story. The price is within everybody's range, too. The first six rows are 75 cents; the rest are 60. You'd pay that much for a good movie, and if the cast of this does well at all, it'll be more worth while than any movie. I think it starts at eight p.m. There's a poster on the main bulletin board in MacLean.

AT THE MOVIES

There's a movie at the Moorhead tonight and tomorrow night that looks interesting — in the ads, at least. It's called "It's A Big Country," and includes in the cast Ethel Barrymore, Gary Cooper, Van Johnson, Gene Kelly, Janet Leigh, Fredric March, William Powell, S. Z. Sakall, Marjorie Main, Keenan Wynn, and others. I haven't any idea what it's all about, but if you go to the play tonight, you might try this one tomorrow night. No promises, though.

ON THE CAMPUS

Next Wednesday night brings to Weld auditorium a program which should be a must on everybody's list. The MSTC choir and the F-M symphony orchestra get together to present Joseph Haydn's "Theresa Mass." Our choir and the orchestra have worked together well in the past, and this program is sure to be a fine one. Don't miss it!

There's an exhibit of student painting currently on display in room 113 of the Fine Arts center. The exhibit includes both art class work and work done by students in the College Night program. There are some pictures there (most of them, in fact) that I thought were worth looking at.

This display also provides an opportunity to see different artists' interpretations of the same general subject. There was a variety of things painted from one model, and they give some idea of the possibilities for different points of view on the same subject.

FINE ARTS SCHEDULE

The Fine Arts center closes out its schedule next week with four noon programs. I hope they'll be back next fall. Something like that is nice to have around.

On this week's schedule are Monday, May 26, 12:00-12:50, "Gayne Ballet Suite N. 2" Khatchaturian; Tuesday noon, "First Rumanian Rhapsody," Enesco;

Wednesday noon, "The Creation of the World," Milhaud, "El Salon Mexico," Copland; Thursday noon, "Rosenkavalier Waltzes," Straus.

Marge
JOHNSON by Bob Berg

Band Loses Margery; Her Life-One Of Music

By JANICE LEVERSON

MSTC has lost a bassoon player! Margery Johnson played that noble instrument for the last time at the band concert Wednesday night; she also directed the band in "The Last Spring" by Grieg.

Weld Hall has been Marg's headquarters the past few years, as she also plays the piano, organ, and sings. As you can see, music is an important part of Marg's life, as is a certain trumpet player — she'll be Mrs. Dewey Possehl June 10.

But back to music. Marg is convo' organists, church organist back home in Fergus Falls, and played the organ for the Choir presentations of Haydn's Creation and Brahms' Requiem last year.

She was soprano soloist for Haydn's The Seasons last fall, and won a local Talent Parade and also the quarter finals with her vocal talent. Marg was born in Fergus Falls September 29, 1930 and went to grade and high school there. In high school she was active in plays, the choir, and the band.

One of the most embarrassing incidents in Marg's life happened last summer while she was working for the telephone company in Fergus.

It was her last night, and it had been quite busy. By accident she pressed the wrong button, and fire sirens began screaming all over the city.

She spent the rest of her shift answering phone calls from people who wanted to know where the fire was.

Besides band and choir, Marg is secretary-treasurer of Tau Chi Mu — MSTC music club. She was music commissioner last year.

Next year Mrs. Possehl will direct vocal and instrumental music and teach junior high English at Glyndon. She will make her debut there Sunday night when she directs the choir at the high school baccalaureate service.

School's About Over; Charlie Is Waiting--

Dear George,

If ya could of seen me last Saturday night — but I'll tell ya about that when you're home.

And oh, I almost forgot — the neighbors (you remember the Jones') have a new roomer. Let me tell you George, she's a diller! I talked to her the other day but she ain't my type — I'll save her for you.

She'll like all that college stuff you know. You always was a hit with the women (I saw all them pictures in your room).

Anyway George, I'm glad to hear you'll be home soon. Ya can tell me all about what ya learned and we can walk down the street together, me and you.

Your friend,

All the household goods you will see being moved out, belong to the Anfinsons. They are taking it to Lake City, Minnesota to store it for the duration.

By duration I mean this summer and the year following, at least.

Mr. and Mrs. A. are leaving for Greeley, Colorado, where, between weekends in the mountains, they will both attend summer school at the Colorado State College of Education.

After completing summer school, Mr. Anfinson will have his Masters Degree. Next fall, he is going on to school to earn his Doctorate. He hasn't definitely decided which college or university he will attend.

Mrs. Anfinson's plans for next fall are also indefinite, although she has thought about going back to teaching high school English and speech or social studies.

Mr. and Mrs. A. have spent three quiet and peaceful (?) years living among the 150 girls in Wheeler and Comstock.

Although, Mr. Anfinson must have been a little bothered by living in a building with only female occupants other than himself, he and Mrs. Anfinson both are sorry to be leaving because they have enjoyed these past years at MSTC, and they expressed the thought that they will miss both the students and the faculty.

I will say on behalf of everyone here that we will miss them also, and sometime in the future, hope they may return, if only for a visit.

'Sam's' Biggest Contribution-To Students

By EILEEN DONNAN

Last year the MISTIC intended to devote the last profile of the year to Samuel Bridges. The profile was drawn, the story was written, but, due to some unforeseen difficulties, neither appeared in the paper.

The MISTIC staff felt very badly about this. He is a man who deserves a lot of recognition.

We don't want to go back to Mr. Bridges again and make him repeat all the things that he told us last year, so, we'll just tell you what the students think of him.

We were quite saddened at the prospect of losing Sam last year. After 32 years he had rather become an institution at MSTC. During that time he did a lot of teaching.

If you look at the records you will see that he was chairman of the Social Studies division before his retirement.

However, if you look behind the record, it was not in the fields of history and social that he made his biggest contribution to the students enrolled in his classes.

"You'll forget most of this in a few years, anyway," "Sam" used to tell his classes.

It is in the field of philosophy and good common down to earth sense for daily living, that Mr. Bridges really shines.

In between the facts of history and the social problems, "Sam" through the years has inserted precious bits of wisdom.

Maybe one doesn't realize it at the time, but now and then they hit you a few years later.

And somehow the history and the social have a way of "sticking with you" too.

Good luck and thanks to Mr. Samuel Bridges — a good teacher and a fine person.

Sororities Picnic

By PATTY THOMAS

This afternoon most of the members of the four sororities will "take to the woods" for the weekend! The reason for their sudden desire for seclusion is the annual sorority picnics.

BETA CHI

The Beta Chi's destination is Faye William's cabin on Big Floyd Lake three miles north of Detroit Lakes. Donna Chartier is general chairman.

Dorothy Gunderson and Delores Briggs are in charge of transportation. The clean-up committee consists of Faye Williams and Delores Briggs.

Marlo Powers and Liz Johnson are to take care of the food angle.

GAMMA NU

The Gamma Nu's outing is to be held at the Levenson cottage on Detroit Lake. Irma Ellingson and Delores Strock constitute their only committee — the food.

PI MU PHI; PSI DELTA KAPPA

Both the Pi Mu Phi and the Psi Delta Kappa sororities are spending the weekend at Lake Melissa.

The Pi's will be residing at the Monson cottage, and will have two committees entertainment, Bonnie Ingersoll, Elaine LaValley, Connie Quast.

Food — Laurine Miller, Carolyn

Stahl, Dacre Wilson, Margaret Samuelson.

The Psi Delt's will stay at Marlys Bautz's cottage; they appointed a chairman for each meal. They are Shirley Wollertson, Marilyn Berg, Jo Holly, Gerry Prieb, Margaret Edman, and Vonnice McLean.

Eileen Donnan To Teach, Will Help Alaska Boom!

By PATTY THOMAS

Eileen Donnan, ex-usherette, ex-sales clerk, ex-waitress, ex-nurse's aid, ex-long distance operator, ex-PB Operator, ex-baby sitter, ex-hat check girl and at present correspondent reporter for the Fargo Forum, is now planning on topping any and all of her past experiences by accepting a position as English and History teacher and librarian at the high school in Palmer, Alaska.

Palmer is about 20 miles northeast of Anchorage, Alaska and has a population of 850.

When asked why she wanted to teach there she said that Alaska is really 'booming' now, "And I'm going up and help it boom!"

Eileen, who is originally from Denver, Colorado, came to Fargo six years ago as a junior in high school to give her mother and step-father a honeymoon. Her plans were to return to Colorado at the end of the year but was appointed editor of the school paper at Fargo High for the following year so she stayed on and graduated in 1948.

When it came time to select a college she choose MS over Denver University in spite of being offered a scholarship at the University which would have covered half of the tuition.

This she explained was because she was "putting herself through college" and even with the scholarship expenses at the "U" would have been four times as great as at MS.

Another deciding factor was that she, "Had always heard what a good school MS was and how it was noted for its wonderful school spirit!"

School spirit (or at least the decline of it) is one of Eileen's "sorespots"! It is her belief that the members of the faculty are just as much to blame as the students, for the poor attendance and lack of spirit at the different activity functions.

She says that too many of the instructors here at MS "just don't know what's going on."

"Somebody should spend more time telling the college students what a good school MS is, and they should always remember that a little pat on the back and a word or two of praise can serve as an incentive to not only do it again, but to do it better!"

As a sophomore, Eileen and four other students were the sum total on the membership roll of the Dragon Masquers. Since then Eileen has seen it grow until it became one of the most active groups on the campus with a total membership of about forty.

It was Eileen's wish that I take part of this space devoted to her and give special recognition to Wally Aas and George Poole for their grand efforts as Dragon Masquers. They were part of the original group of five also.

There is one thing Eileen would like to have the Masquers sponsor and that is a 'Week in the Dorm' for off campus students.

Eileen considers her freshman year here at MS her most exciting because during that year she, along with other students from MS and Concordia, joined a progressive party and held meetings in the back of a local furniture store.

Eileen says she was influenced by a group of social non-conformists in her early months here at MS, she is a member of Alpha Phi Gamma, Alpha Psi Omega, Sigma Tau Delta and Dragon Masquers.

In addition she has been on the MISTIC staff for four years and has served both as feature editor and as associate editor. Her main function on the paper-staff other than writing feature stories was "Giving moral support to the editors" (Editor's Note: Hmmm!!)

Miss Donnan will be graduating June 6, with a broad major in English, a broad minor in social studies and a minor in library science.

To try to summarize Eileen's personality in one or two sentences would be impossible but this much should be said, "Eileen's interesting personality is the result of her genuine interest in any and all other people."

Dragons Win Five Out Of Seven For .714 Percentage; Protest One

By JIM FRIDLAND

During the past weeks the Dragon baseball team played at a .714 clip winning five out of seven contests. Game number eight is under protest and the final results are not known.

The Dragons have proved to be anything but a hitting team as they came through with only 47 safties in the eight contests for an anemic average of about six per game.

Their fielding is hardly a bright spot as they committed 31 errors or about four a game. The only bright spot in the team record besides the won - lost column is the Dragon pitching, and that at times isn't too sparkling either.

Wilcox came through with a splendid no-hitter against Valley City in near freezing weather allowing only four men to reach base; Anderson pitched a four hitter against Mayville in another well pitched game.

Aside from those two games the hurling has been spotty.

The spotlight in the hitting department, has surprisingly fallen on Mac Dahl and Freshman Bill Iverson.

Dahl came through with two home runs, one being a bases full and the other an inside the park blow. Iverson came through with some vital hits in the first Valley City game to start a couple much needed rallies. He has contributed his share all along the way.

MS - MAYVILLE

In the first game the Dragons fell victim to their own defense as they committed four errors in the third inning and allowed three unearned runs to score which proved fatal as Mayville counted another in the fourth and won four to three.

Mac Dahl came through in the second game with his bases full homer to insure Beanie Anderson's four hit win. Gran also counted a homer, a well hit ball over the left field barrier.

MS - BEMIDJI

In non-league competition Eddie Raymond fell victim to ten errors on the part of his mates and fell to defeat by the count of eight to two.

Bierhaus started his second string but because of the erratic play inserted his regulars in the fourth inning in hopes to pull out a victory. It just wasn't in the books however as the regulars continued to chalk up the mis-cues and the final score read eight to two.

John Strong led the extra base hitting as he poked one over the left field fence.

Although the MS hurlers gave up nine hits and six free tickets to first base, the Dragons managed to come through in the second game with a hard won eight to six win in a drawn out, slam-bang affair.

The Dragons themselves managed only eight hits but bunched them effectively enough to make them count. Reski started and gave up four runs in five innings.

Anderson relieved him in the sixth and walked off with the win.

MS - VALLEY CITY

Krabbenhoft was on the mound during the first game and had things well under control until the sixth inning when Valley City bunched three of their seven hits to take a four to three lead after trailing three to one until that time.

Things looked dark for the Beirhaus men until the seventh when Iverson opened the inning with a line-drive triple scoring on Gran's single after Purcell had drawn a walk.

Purcell stole second, went to third on Gran's blow and came home on Dahl's grounder to the pitcher.

Krabbenhoft gave up seven hits but set down a dozen men on strikes.

Wilcox was the complete master in the night cap as he hurled hitless ball and allowed only four men to reach base, yet the outcome of this game was in doubt until the final inning as the hapless Dragon batsman could only manage four hits, two being of the scratch variety.

Purcell gained life on a walk and went all the way to third on a over-throw by the pitcher. Gran struck out making two away.

As Dahl stepped to the plate, Vic stole home on the first pitch. Mac hit a Texas Leaguer and went around the base paths on two wild pitches and a passed ball counting the second and final run of the game.

Wilcox wiffed nine while turning in his no-hitter.

MS - JAMESTOWN

Wilcox toed the slab in the first game with the Jimmies and allowed only five hits while striking out nine.

MS was again impotent with the bat as they could only muster five hits themselves, but they took advantage of six Jimmie mis-cues to win an easy ten to one victory.

Wilcox had another shutout going until the seventh when they scored one run via two Dragon errors. Mac Dahl came through with the hitting gem of the game as he powdered all inside the park home run.

Krabbenhoft started the second game and was hit hard in spots, but during the middle innings pitched good enough ball to remain in the game as the Dragons counted six times in the second to give him a two run lead going into fifth.

The Jimmies scored twice in the fifth to bring the count to six all but the Dragons came back in their half to go ahead again.

Neither team scored again till the seventh when Jamestown pushed across five runs with the help of a mis-interpretation of the rule book which has resulted in a protest by the Dragon coaching staff.

Schoephoerster relieved Larry after one was out and the bases full in the seventh. He was greeted with a single and a home run by Peck before he could retire the side.

Because Jamestown's Sorge passed Ford on the base paths and the umpire did not declare him out, five runs scored which should not have counted and the ball game was lost.

The protest has been filed with the president of the league and it is expected to go through. It could mean the league title.

In the latter division there were debaters representing colleges from North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

SHORT STORIES

By DON SHORT

If enthusiasm means anything MS ought to boast an excellent football squad next fall. Plans are in progress for the Dragons summer training camp and Fritz can hardly contain himself.

As a whole, the teams' attitude is that of a champion and individually the concurrent opinions are that with a little seasoning most of the boys will be ready to play the kind of ball they tried so hard to last year.

This column finds itself sympathizing entirely with the foregoing and hoping sincerely that Bierhaus comes out with a winning combo.

Besides, the training camp gives this writer an excellent excuse for a late summer fishing sojourn.

The foreign Legion has nothing on Uncle Sam. The U. S. Armed Forces have shanghaied several of the best major league baseball players direct from their Cadillacs to a subsistence — Williams, Newcombe, Coleman, Mays, etc.

Possibly suffering from a guilt complex; (has nothing to do with Freud) they have returned one of the more fortunate, Curt Simmons of Philadelphia, who made that famous trek when parts of the National Guard was nationalized.

If only MS could excuse themselves on the above basis. The impotent and of late unimportant Dragons boast batting averages ranging from .050 to something like .320.

Not bad if most of the marks were on the upper end but unfortunately they hover desolately close to the other.

Well, this is the swan song of this years edition of the MISTIC. Here on the sports page we have witnessed the indifferent football season, the tragic basketball season and the as yet not too complicated baseball season.

We have observed the improvement of the of public relations through the revival of the Dragon Relays.

We have seen how a well run intramural program should operate thanks to Jerry Kriesel of the Major-Minor club and we have noticed that despite the talk of a noticeable laxness on the part of the students when there is something which has to be done, there is always someone willing.

Somehow, it seems that it is always the same people though.

Something else that has come to our attention is the unfortunate problem of race prejudice.

Last week the editorial page of this publication printed the story of a downtown business place that refused service to an MS student because of the amount of pigmentation present in his skin.

The story suggested that we in the north clean up our own back yard before we attack the south. They

Earn Money? Write Slogan

By CANDY

Do you want to know how to make a little easy cash? A chance to make money the easy way, that's what I'm offering you.

Wonderful! I don't hear any negative answers; that should mean a good competitive race.

Well here's the dope. You can be an individual working for yourself or you can be part of the thirty or more cabbage heads working for your frat or sorority.

Yes siree, here it is, the chance of a life time.

All you have to do is wind that brain up, let her tick and write down a slogan for next years homecoming.

Now for the necessary information which you must concentrate upon while that brain is winding up. The MS football team will challenge the Mankato Indians in the homecoming game on October 18.

Turn your results in to Delores Anderson or Dick Deski by Monday 4 p.m. The author of the slogan will be awarded a five dollar cash prize.

needn't have gone so far. They could have said that we of MS should sweep the refuse from our own dwelling.

This is an educational institution where the students are supposed to be made aware of the lack of actual difference in races yet we find a student in an introductory physical education class saying that "a nigger is a nigger, I don't care what you say." How about that!

Well, see some of you people around next year. Maybe.

Who's The Handsomest

By RHODA SENECHAL

A gigantic question was raised one evening this week on a late evening record program of a radio station in this city.

The question — "Who is the handsomest man on the MSTC campus — Skip Enger, Leonard Varriano, or Jack Wilcox?"

Early on the program a listener had called the radio station to request a song (it came from Dilworth) for one of the three whom she (or he) regarded as the most handsome.

Immediately two others called to protest the statement and named their own candidates for the title.

Now we have the problem — Who is the handsomest man on the MS campus — Skip Enger, Leonard Varriano, Jack Wilcox, — or somebody else?

(Ponder this weighty question girls and boys) and if you would like to cast your vocal vote for any of these glamour boys.

I'm sure the disc jockey concerned would be more than glad to hear from you.

College, Campus School News

in the mailbag

Dear Editor:

We, in the seventh and eighth grades of the campus school are trying very hard to support our adopted Greek War orphan during the summer months.

We have now supported him for over two years.

After completing our May payment ($15.00) we have only twenty-four cents left in our treasury to cover June, July, and August.

We have been wondering if some of our college organizations would be willing to contribute toward his summer support.

We would appreciate it if you would make an appeal for us through the MiSTiC. Any small amount will help us out.

Sincerely yours,

The Seventh Grade

● (Editor's Note: To the Campus School seventh and eighth grades — You have been doing a grand job! I am reprinting your letter because your appeal is expressed much better than I could ever rewrite it. Your cause is certainly a worthwhile one. Keep up the good work!)
